Synopsis

Answering the need to pass wisdom down from one generation to the next, Anchors, Batons, and Castles™ offers readers an analysis of the challenges and a strategy for legacy formation.

Where Hallucinations, Laminates, and Lies™ exposes how synthetic systems distort identity, agency, and truth; and Humanity's Advantage™ offers the counterweight: a practical path for strengthening the five human capacities AI can never replace; Anchors, Batons, and Castles™ extends the reach of HA's solution across the generation gap, helping preserve humanity's position in the cosmic order for the foreseeable future.

Because freedom is always one generation away from extinction. Together with its companions, this downloadable sample is designed to give readers enough context to understand the distinctive vocabulary, framing, and series structure behind The Artificial vs. Actual Project™, while reserving the full manuscript for later publication. It highlights the project's recurring concern: the difference between what merely performs truth and what remains accountable to the actual.
